Fenja Capital II A/S is an alternative investment fund (AIF) domiciled in Denmark focusing on investments in listed nordic companies.

The AIF is managed by Fenja Capital Partners A/S, which is owned by the Fenja Capital Partners A/S partners and select minority shareholders. Danske Bank Depository Services is appointed as depository for the AIF.

You may redeem your shares in the AIF with 24 months notice to end of quarter, and according to the conditions described in the AIF articles of association.

Objectives:

The aim is to deliver an attractive return. The main investment strategy is to provide flexible and long term financing solutions to small- and medium-sized publicly traded companies, for instance in the form of convertible debt.

The AIF may use a credit facility to of as much as 35% of the net asset value, to be (measured on a current year basis) fully (100%) invested on a cash basis. The AIF may use financial instruments to hedge or assume exposure. The board of directors can propose a dividend payout, to be decided by the general meeting. The AIF is for investors with a long term investment horizon, and investors seeking portfolio diversification.

Term:

The fund has been established for an unlimited period of time and is open-ended.

WHAT ARE THE RISKS AND WHAT COULD I GET IN RETURN?

Risk indicator:

The AIF investment strategy is executed in the micro-, small and mid cap market where larger fluctuations in values and company developments are more frequent in general. The AIF invests in a limited number of companies (with an expected diversification across 10-25 companies), which may lead to higher risk compared to AIFs which invest in a larger number of companies in a broader investment universe.

This Fund does not include any protection from future market performance, so you could lose some or all of your investment. If the Fund is not able to pay you what is owed, you could lose your entire investment.

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because the Fund is not able to pay you.

Fenja Capital Partners AVS has classified this product as 6 out of 7, which is the second-highest risk class. This rates the potential losses from future performance at a high level. The indicator also reflects the illiquid nature of the investment, and that there is no regulated market on which the AIF or its (main) investments are traded.

The following risks are not fully reflected in the classification, but still influences the AIFs value:

Liquidity risk – some of the AIFs investments may be difficult to sell at a specific time at a fair price.

Operational risk – the risk of losses due to for instance system failure, human error or external events.

Currency risk – the AIF makes investments in other currencies than the AIF base currency (DKK). Thus, the AIF is exposed to currency risks. The main currency exposures are continuously hedged.

Performance scenarios:

What you will get from this product depends on future market performance. Market developments in the future are uncertain and cannot be accurately predicted.

The scenarios are fictive and are based on prior results and certain assumptions. Markets could develop very differently in the future.

High Water Mark is the product's net asset value by the end of the year or net asset value at the time of entry if entry happens in an ongoing year - the calculation is made for each investor.
